

*Dr. Kevin Fleming:
(Re)Defining the Goal of Education*

Dr. Kevin Fleming: (Re)Defining the Goal of Education

The Chehalis School District would like to invite you to a very special evening of inspiration with Dr. Kevin Fleming, bestselling author and producer of more than 20 animated videos focused on career and college readiness goals.

The presentation will take place 6 p.m. Dec. 5 at Chehalis Middle School.

Kevin Fleming's Core Principles

Just graduating is no longer enough, says Fleming. There are 4 specific skills all students need; and there are 4 proven steps to ensure alignment between your purpose and your future careers.

- Communication Skills
- Student Leadership Activities
- Problem Solving
- Part time work

Fleming's inspiring presentation explains the new economic realities and tangible action steps to help all students gain a competitive advantage. His presentation is meant to challenge, invigorate and equip parents and students for future success.

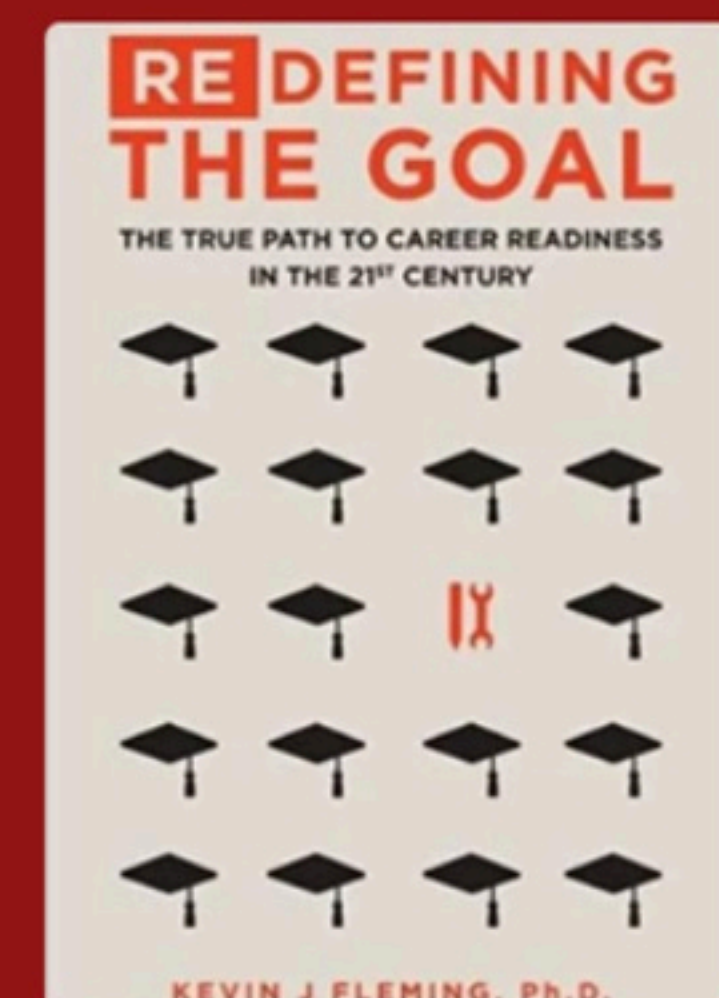

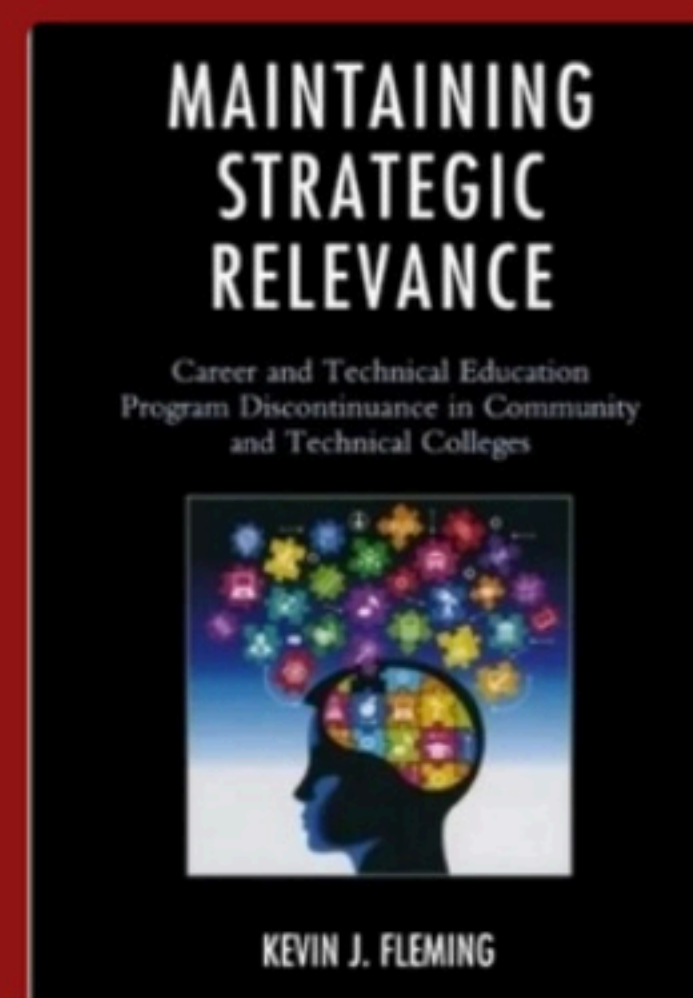

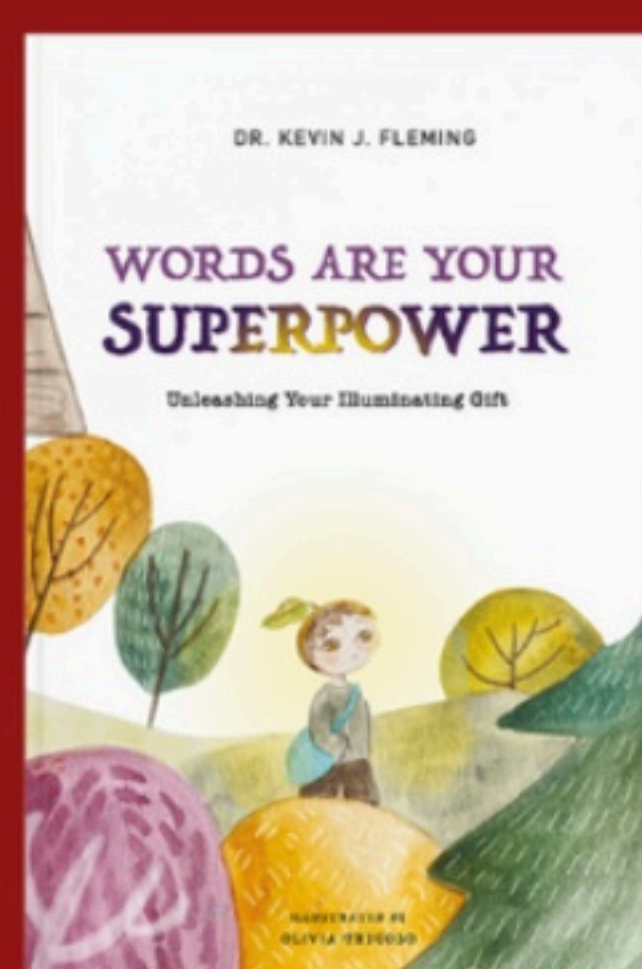

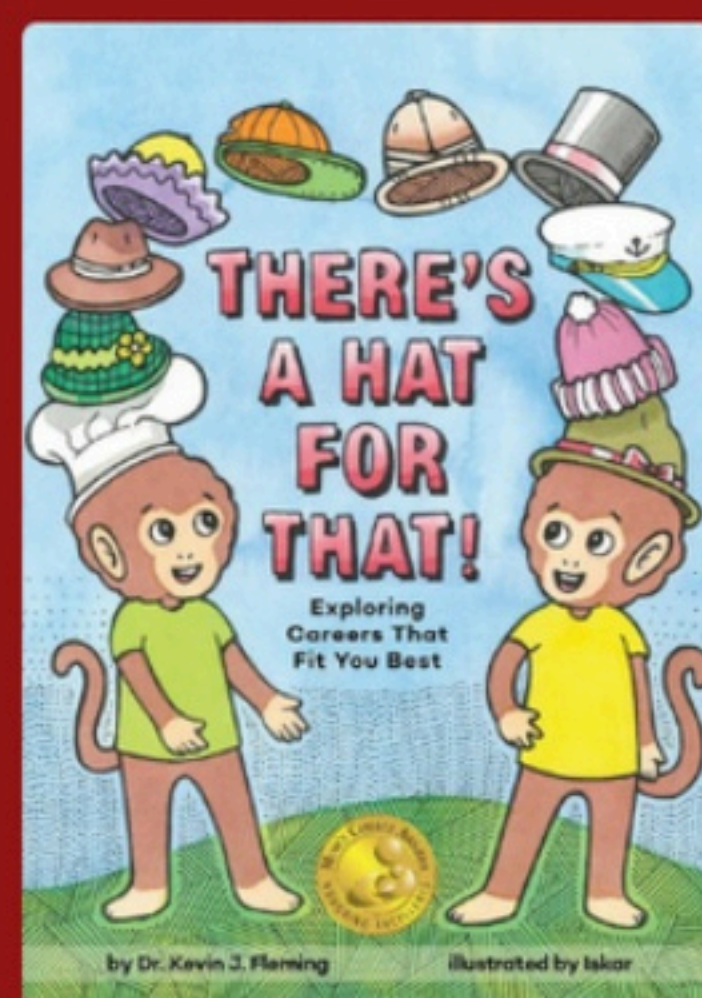

How Does Fleming's Message Fit With Chehalis School District's Efforts?

This presentation is made possible through grant funding from the Washington Student Achievement Council to the Chehalis School District's Student Achievement Initiative. The primary goal for Chehalis School District's Student Achievement Initiative is to have graduating seniors go on to complete some sort of post-secondary degree or certification.

To achieve this goal, it is important to engage parents and students in identifying the many career and college pathways available and provide support for them to prepare for and at a later time access those pathways.

"The underlying goal of the school district and our community partners, around the Student Achievement Initiative, is for the betterment of our community. To do our part we are focused on preparing students for the journey ahead," said Executive Director for Student Achievement Rick Goble. "By bringing Dr. Fleming to our community we are providing a resource for our parents and students to make informed decisions. When families have discussions about future career paths for their students, we want those outcomes and plans to be in alignment with the student's career choices and not because of missed opportunities or a lack of preparedness."

Dr. Kevin Fleming's Books

Learn More at Kevinjfleming.com/books

Resources for Parents

Parents who would like to know more about this upcoming visit can read more about Dr. Kevin Fleming at <https://www.kevinjfleming.com/>.

This event is being held at Chehalis Middle School and Dr. Fleming's message is most appropriate for parents and students grades 6 and up. However, parents of all ages are welcome to attend. Dr. Fleming has also written four different books about his message, beginning with the iconic "There's a Hat for That" which teaches the youngest of readers that there are many pathways to career and college success.

Notice of Non-discrimination
Anti-bullying Policy and Procedure

Chehalis School District

Subscribe to Chehalis